The ruling Labour Party need to be held more accountable for how their members and candidates behave during and after elections and take descive action upon these members for their conduct. The council it's self need to assign a social media officer, to take control of concillors social media accounts, as there are often derogetory, inflammatory and defamatory comments made by both serving councillors and their followers and bullying is quite often encouraged. When a candidate has been sued for defamation and had a police caution the year prior they should not be allowed to stand as a candidate for council. All of the chair roles within council committees are given to inexperienced newly appointed councillors, so their friends funding applications can be voted through. Nepotism is rife ! I know this is about boundary changes, however the one thing that divides the communities of St Annes and Pallion Wards are Claxeugh Riverside. The boat house and steps are the St Annes Ward, the car park, estuary, grassy fields and cliffs themselves all fall under the Pallion Ward remit. All of which are SSSI protected areas, the councillors in the St Annes Ward don't seem to understand this fact and year upon year, end up causing divides in communities. Whose residents who are often newer to the area and don't understand what boundaries are. [REDACTED]
