

Our Recommendations

The table lists all the divisions we are proposing as part of our final recommendations along with the electorate projections for 2029 in each division, so you can see the impact of the recommendations for the future. The table also shows the electoral variances for each of the proposed divisions which tells you how we have delivered electoral equality. All divisions are single-member with one councillor.

Surrey County Council

Final Recommendations on the new electoral arrangements

Who we are

- The Local Government Boundary Commission for England is an independent body set up by Parliament.
- We are not part of government or any political party.
- We are accountable to Parliament through a committee of MPs chaired by the Speaker of the House of Commons.
- Our main role is to carry out electoral reviews of local authorities throughout England.

Electoral review

An electoral review examines and proposes new electoral arrangements for a local authority, including:

- The total number of councillors representing the council's electors ('council size').
- The names, number and boundaries of wards or electoral divisions.
- The number of councillors for each ward or division.

Why Surrey?

- The Commission has a legal duty to carry out an electoral review of each council in England 'from time to time'.
- Surrey County Council has not been reviewed since 2012 and the Commission has therefore decided that it should review Surrey in advance of the elections in 2025.

Our proposals

- Surrey County Council currently has 81 councillors. Based on the evidence we received, we recommend that 81 councillors should serve the council in the future.
- We believe our final recommendations meet our statutory criteria to:
 1. Deliver electoral equality for electors
 2. Reflect community interests and identities
 3. Promote effective and convenient local government

Summary of our recommendations

We have considered all the submissions we received during our consultation on our draft recommendations.

The final recommendations propose that Surrey should have 81 councillors, the same as there are now.

Surrey should have 81 divisions. The boundaries of most of the existing divisions should change.

The 81 councillors should represent 81 single councillor divisions across the county.
