I cannot support the suggestion she of this review. You are not recognising the true boundaries of wards that people have grown up in and known for a very long time. The boundaries as they stand are not perfect but make more sense than the new estates you are trying to hack up and rename. The levelling up scheme will see more house building in these parishes and the number of councillors could well need to increase from current capacity, not reduce, in order to get sufficient response and service that they are supposed to provide and get voted in for.
