I am alarmed by the fact that recent changes in my local elections resulted in the Parishes of Normandy (my own) and Pirbright being joined together yet retaining the 2 councillor representation..WHY? I now have 2 councillors to approach about local issues who will cover a much wider area and where those councillors are from separate parties for me the direct representational benefit of the original system is lost. I am concerned about other changes you may seek to impose. I have a very strong connection with Guildford..yet my Parliamentary representative ins presently Woking but intended to be Camberley neither of which are really concerned about my geographical position or the local authority i am connected to. We are an after thought and that is wrong
My view is that therefore my connection to Guildford should be retained
