I have lived first in Rickleton and then in Fatfield for over 30 years. The proposed new boundary makes no sense to me. I would prefer a new name of Washington South and for the ward to include Rickleton, Harraton, Fatfield, Biddick and Mount Pleasant but EXCLUDING Teal Farm because there is no logical road connecting this estate with the other villages. Other than a short dead-end road serving only a handful of properties and which runs east along the north side of the river from Biddick bridge and a small length of Bonemill Lane to the west of Biddick Bridge there is no discernible 'riverside' and none of the river west of Biddick bridge is accessible even by a footpath, so the term is a misnomer.
