I'm very concerned about the names for the new wards in Washington, historically washington has been zoned by compass definition and from the last reviews areas have been known as Washington north, south, East, West and central, this works and I would like to see these names retained, the proposals I have seen mean some village names are referred too and some totally ignored which will disenfranchise some voters.

We also have concerns about the Columbia Area of Washington been grouped with barmston and sulgrave, we are our own community but link with Biddick , Glebe and washington village both geographic and historically , please reconsider.
