Comment text:

In theory I don't mind there being less councillors for my area as long as it reflects the change in population. Less people means less councillors is viable. I hope this also streamlines processes or makes it easier to get in contact with my councillors. It's very frustrating getting in contact about something and realising I have to deal with 2 or 3 people as there are multiple councillors in the ward or boundaries overlap one another. It usually makes the work harder to accomplish as more parties get involved.
