To Whom it may concern:

I am writing to express my opinion that the village of Eldwick should remain entirely in Bingley Ward. None of the area recognised as Eldwick should be in Baildon Ward.

The communities of Eldwick and Baildon are physically separated by Baildon Moor and are recognised as entirely separate entities. The communities will have different interests and priorities. No one Councilor could adequately represent the views of these two communities.

Eldwick has its own combined Anglican/Methodist Church, its own Post Office, Primary School and village Hall. It has a Village Society with its own newsletter and many community activities. Its inhabitants regard themselves as dwelling in Eldwick, Bingley - its postal address.

Eldwick has always been recognised as part of Bingley, and, with modern building, the two are now contiguous. The bus service connects Eldwick to Bingley. There are no means of travelling between Eldwick and Baildon via public transport.

Any separation of part of Eldwick from the rest, in terms of local government makes no sense whatsoever.
