Ridiculous idea. Greed and control of power over people's choice to remain in their own physical area. Eldwick is an individual village and beurocratically should be kept as one, tied to the geographically nearest town. I object very strongly to combine half of the village with another area with zero connection. I for one never go towards Baildon and I suspect if you asked people here the percentage would be incredibly low. Also what about Bingley pool is it true that Labour may pull the agreed funding?
