The new proposed boundary for my area undermines the cohesive and clear representation within our communities, with Councillors only responsible for a section of the town, not the whole town. This would dilute our representation and the ability of our councillors to campaign for improvements to town as a cohesive whole. Place is so important to people's sense of identity and belonging. We need boundaries that preserve a sense of place and as a town one of Bingley's great strengths is it's long history, unique character and the quality amenities that make it such a special place.
