Dear sir

I am an Eldwick resident and am most disturbed to learn that the proposed boundary change moves us from our ancestral home of Bingley to be included in a remote area some distance away.

Eldwick is an ancient parish that has always been associated with Bingley. In fact when Eldwick wanted to build a road between Eldwick and Baildon that was to include housing, Baildon turned it down and turned it's back on Eldwick.

There must be some logic to the proposed boundary change, but I, along with many other local residents fail to see how it will benefit Eldwick or Baildon.

Most Eldwick residents shop in Bingley, use either Eldwick or Bingley doctors surgeries and dental practices.

Our means of public transport is linked to Bingley not Baildon, few people from Eldwick would consider going to Baildon to catch a train as there is no public transport between the villages.

Eldwick is a village with a brilliant community spirit supporting charities through a number of annual events. By moving part or all of the village into a remote area does not make any sense.

Why should residents of Eldwick be expected to vote for representatives of an area that is completely remote from us and are unlikely to provide the understanding of our needs.

Eldwick should remain a complete village and attached to the town of Bingley.
