Related subject: Bingley

Dear whomever it may concern,

I'm confused about the proposition of dividing Bingley in two.

Bingley is a town with a number of outlying villages, each with their own unique identities and relationship with Bingley itself. This proposal homogenises outlying villages like Wilsden and Harden into the same ward as Central Bingley which compromises their identity as well as Bingley's.

Eldwick and Gilstead are villages up the hill from Bingley but still consider themselves as a part of Bingley in a way that other villages don't. Members of the public, like myself, frequently go into Bingley Town centre and use the amenities there. This proposal would mean that our representatives could not advocate for us on matters surrounding central Bingley. Not only have residents always been able to do this but it confuses residents unnecessarily.

I strongly urge you to reconsider this particular boundary as it makes absolutely no sense whatsoever.

Many thanks
