Related subject: Proposal to move Jesmond Vale out of Jesmond and put it into Ouseburn and Shieldfield

I have already commented on this proposal which I strongly object to but wanted to make one further additional point.

The Parliamentary boundaries were recently reviewed and came into force for the 2024 general election. Under these boundaries, Jesmond Vale is now part of the Newcastle North constituency along with the rest of Jesmond. You now propose to sever it and put it with areas in a different constituency. This will just create confusion and extra administration - surely any changes you make ought to ensure simplicity not create complication and thus needless extra cost? Jesmond Vale needs for all the reasons I've stated to remain in Jesmond administratively - as it is in real life.
