Comment text:

The boundary line in smiths wood will be representative by a Birmingham Councillor of hodge Hill,so how can a Birmingham Councillor represent both Birmingham and part of North Solihull. Or is this the beginning of part of North Solihull becoming part of Birmingham again.

I also notice that the biggest boundary is Balsall Berkswell which is always predominantly a Conservative area, is this so the Conservative have ready made votes .

So in sumerary they are making an area that don't predominantly vote Conservative smaller and an area that votes predominantly Conservative bigger.

Certainly made ,e think the reasons why the change in boundary lines.
